

Stan Strasner

The educators of NEA need to stand up to the racist, sexist agenda of Trump and his friends in the billionaire class. As a union, we must battle back against the business interests that are working tirelessly to privatize public education for their own profit. Our students deserve better. We need to tax the rich to fully fund our schools. Educators must be free to teach about issues deemed controversial without fear of retaliation. We as a union must stand with brave educators facing attacks. When we stand together as the working class, we can create a better world.