

WEA/HCR TEACHING EQUITY CONFERENCE

BIGGER THAN ME: STORIES OF HOPE AND RESILIENCE SATURDAY, AUGUST 16, 2025

The 2025 Teaching Equity Conference is dedicated to eliminating opportunity gaps for all students while creating educational environment cultures that increase both academic and social-emotional student outcomes.

As professional educators, participants will cultivate effective educational environment cultures based on Washington State’s Equity-Based School Practices: Cultural Competency, Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion to improve student engagement and learn for all students.

This will be done through the lens of creating an educational environment, school, and district narratives based on the power of “Asset-Based Story Telling.” Asset-based narratives create school cultures that center student-to-educator relationships and student-to-student relationships. Effective and authentic relational educational environment systems directly impact social-emotional growth and academic achievement.

*The event is offered for free, including parking. We will provide attendees with a parking pass to put on their cars.
